Susan Cotten Named to Manage Patient Transport Development

White Plains, NY – Susan Cotton has been named Manager of Patient Transport Development at Corporate Angel Network.

In this newly-created position, Cotten will be responsible for implementing a plan to increase the number of corporations that donate empty seats to cancer patients on their business flights. She will also visit major cancer treatment centers around the country to increase the awareness of Corporate Angel services.

“Susan’s years of corporate aviation experience provide an excellent foundation for the contribution she will make toward increasing the number of cancer patients we help.” said Peter Fleiss, CAN’s Executive Director. “We’re extremely pleased to have her on our team.”

Cotten was a corporate flight attendant for the American Express Company as well as a contract employee for more than a dozen New York area flight departments. Her previous experience includes marketing and sales in the travel industry and writing public relations materials. Cotten, who served as a volunteer at Corporate Angel Network, is a graduate of Oklahoma State University.

“Corporate Angel Network, a non-profit organization founded in 1981, has flown nearly 35,000 cancer patients to treatment on the business jets of over 530 U.S. corporations who participate in this vital cause.”

About Corporate Angel Network

Since its founding in 1981, CAN has grown to include over 500 participating corporations, five paid staff, and a team of 50 part-time volunteers who work with patients, physicians, corporate flight departments, and leading treatment centers to coordinate medical travel needs of cancer patients with the scheduled flight activity of participating corporations. To date, CAN has arranged more nearly 35,000 flights and currently provides about 250 patient flights a month. CAN has received numerous awards in recognition of its service to cancer patients, including The Volunteer Action Award, the highest volunteer award from the President of the United States.
